Advanced technology with traditional looks

As a market leader, REHAU's S706 70mm window and door system offers all the benefits of PVC-U windows and doors while preserving the appearance of traditional wooden frames.

Timeless and classic, practical and durable – the REHAU 70mm system is a well-established and popular choice.

A wide open choice

Your home is the biggest single investment you'll ever make, and choosing replacement double-glazed windows and doors is a big step. After all, your new windows and doors won't just make your home more attractive and comfortable, they will also add to its value.

Low-level beads and gaskets, which sit level with the frames, both inside and out, are less obtrusive than the standard option and enhance the overall finish of the windows.

Today's house building continues to favour nostalgic designs. To complement this, REHAU 70mm replicates traditional joinery features with sculptured sashes and matching sculptured glazing beads to give that authentic period look. However, if the clean, modern look suits your property, then chamfered sashes are also available.

Whatever the style of your home, we'll ensure that the window design blends in beautifully.

Choose from casement windows – internally and externally beaded – bay or bow casements, fully reversible or 'tilt and turn' windows that enable easy cleaning from inside.

Match your mood

If you're in the mood for a traditional wood finish, we can provide it. All windows and doors are available in clean White, rich Mahogany or warm Golden Oak. A further 150 colour options are available using the REHAU Acryl II colouring system.

And you can even have windows to complement your interior décor – for instance, a clean white finish on the inside and either a woodgrain or colour on the outside.

To enhance your windows and doors further, REHAU has developed a range of ancillary features. Choose from run-through sash horns – which are formed from the same material as the frames, to give an authentic finish and consistent colour. Arched head inserts for a traditional cottage look, or external Georgian bars for a period finish. The range of glazing is just as impressive. You can choose from clear, patterned or stained glass. Or, for traditional properties, leaded or bevelled style glazing offers true aesthetic appeal.

A very warm welcome.
Whatever the style of door – we're sure to have it

Choose from French doors – the popular alternative to the 'tilt or slide' patio door – stable doors, or residential front doors.

In addition to your new door, think about adding a canopy, porch or conservatory. A canopy will shelter you from the sun or rain, while a porch can provide a surprising amount of valuable extra space. And a conservatory effectively brings your garden right into your home so you can enjoy it all year round.

REHAU 70mm doors can really make the most of the entrance to your home with a superb selection of door styles for you to choose from.

Whether it's chic contemporary, or quietly traditional, cottage style or Edwardian, we have just the door for you. REHAU 70mm doors boast a low-level threshold option, which complies with the latest building regulations, making wheelchair access easier.

Behind every door and window is a reputation for innovation and style

With REHAU 70mm, you not only get a slim, stylish and attractive window and door system but also a product that incorporates all the benefits of modern PVC-U. Benefits that include low maintenance and greater security. Everything to give you complete peace of mind.

The design of its quality, three chambered system with ample internal space, means that not only does it have excellent insulation properties but also enables us to install larger steel reinforcements to give your windows and doors more rigidity and strength, making your home more secure. All REHAU 70mm windows and doors comply with new building regulations concerning the conservation of fuel and power.

Quality and reliability that can't be bettered

The excellent thermal efficiency of our windows and doors means that draughts are excluded so successfully that your home is warmer and, better still, your energy bills will be greatly reduced. When used with double glazing, the efficient insulation reduces outside noise, giving you more peace and quiet.

The unique, high quality compound used to create the renowned REHAU smooth gloss finish means that your windows and doors keep their pristine appearance and they don't warp, rot or need regular painting – unlike their wooden counterparts.

REHAU 70mm comes as part of an integrated window and door package that offers superior engineering and superb designs. Form and functionality combine with visual appeal and sheer practicality.

No wonder it's the preferred choice of so many people when replacing windows and doors.
